SKELTON

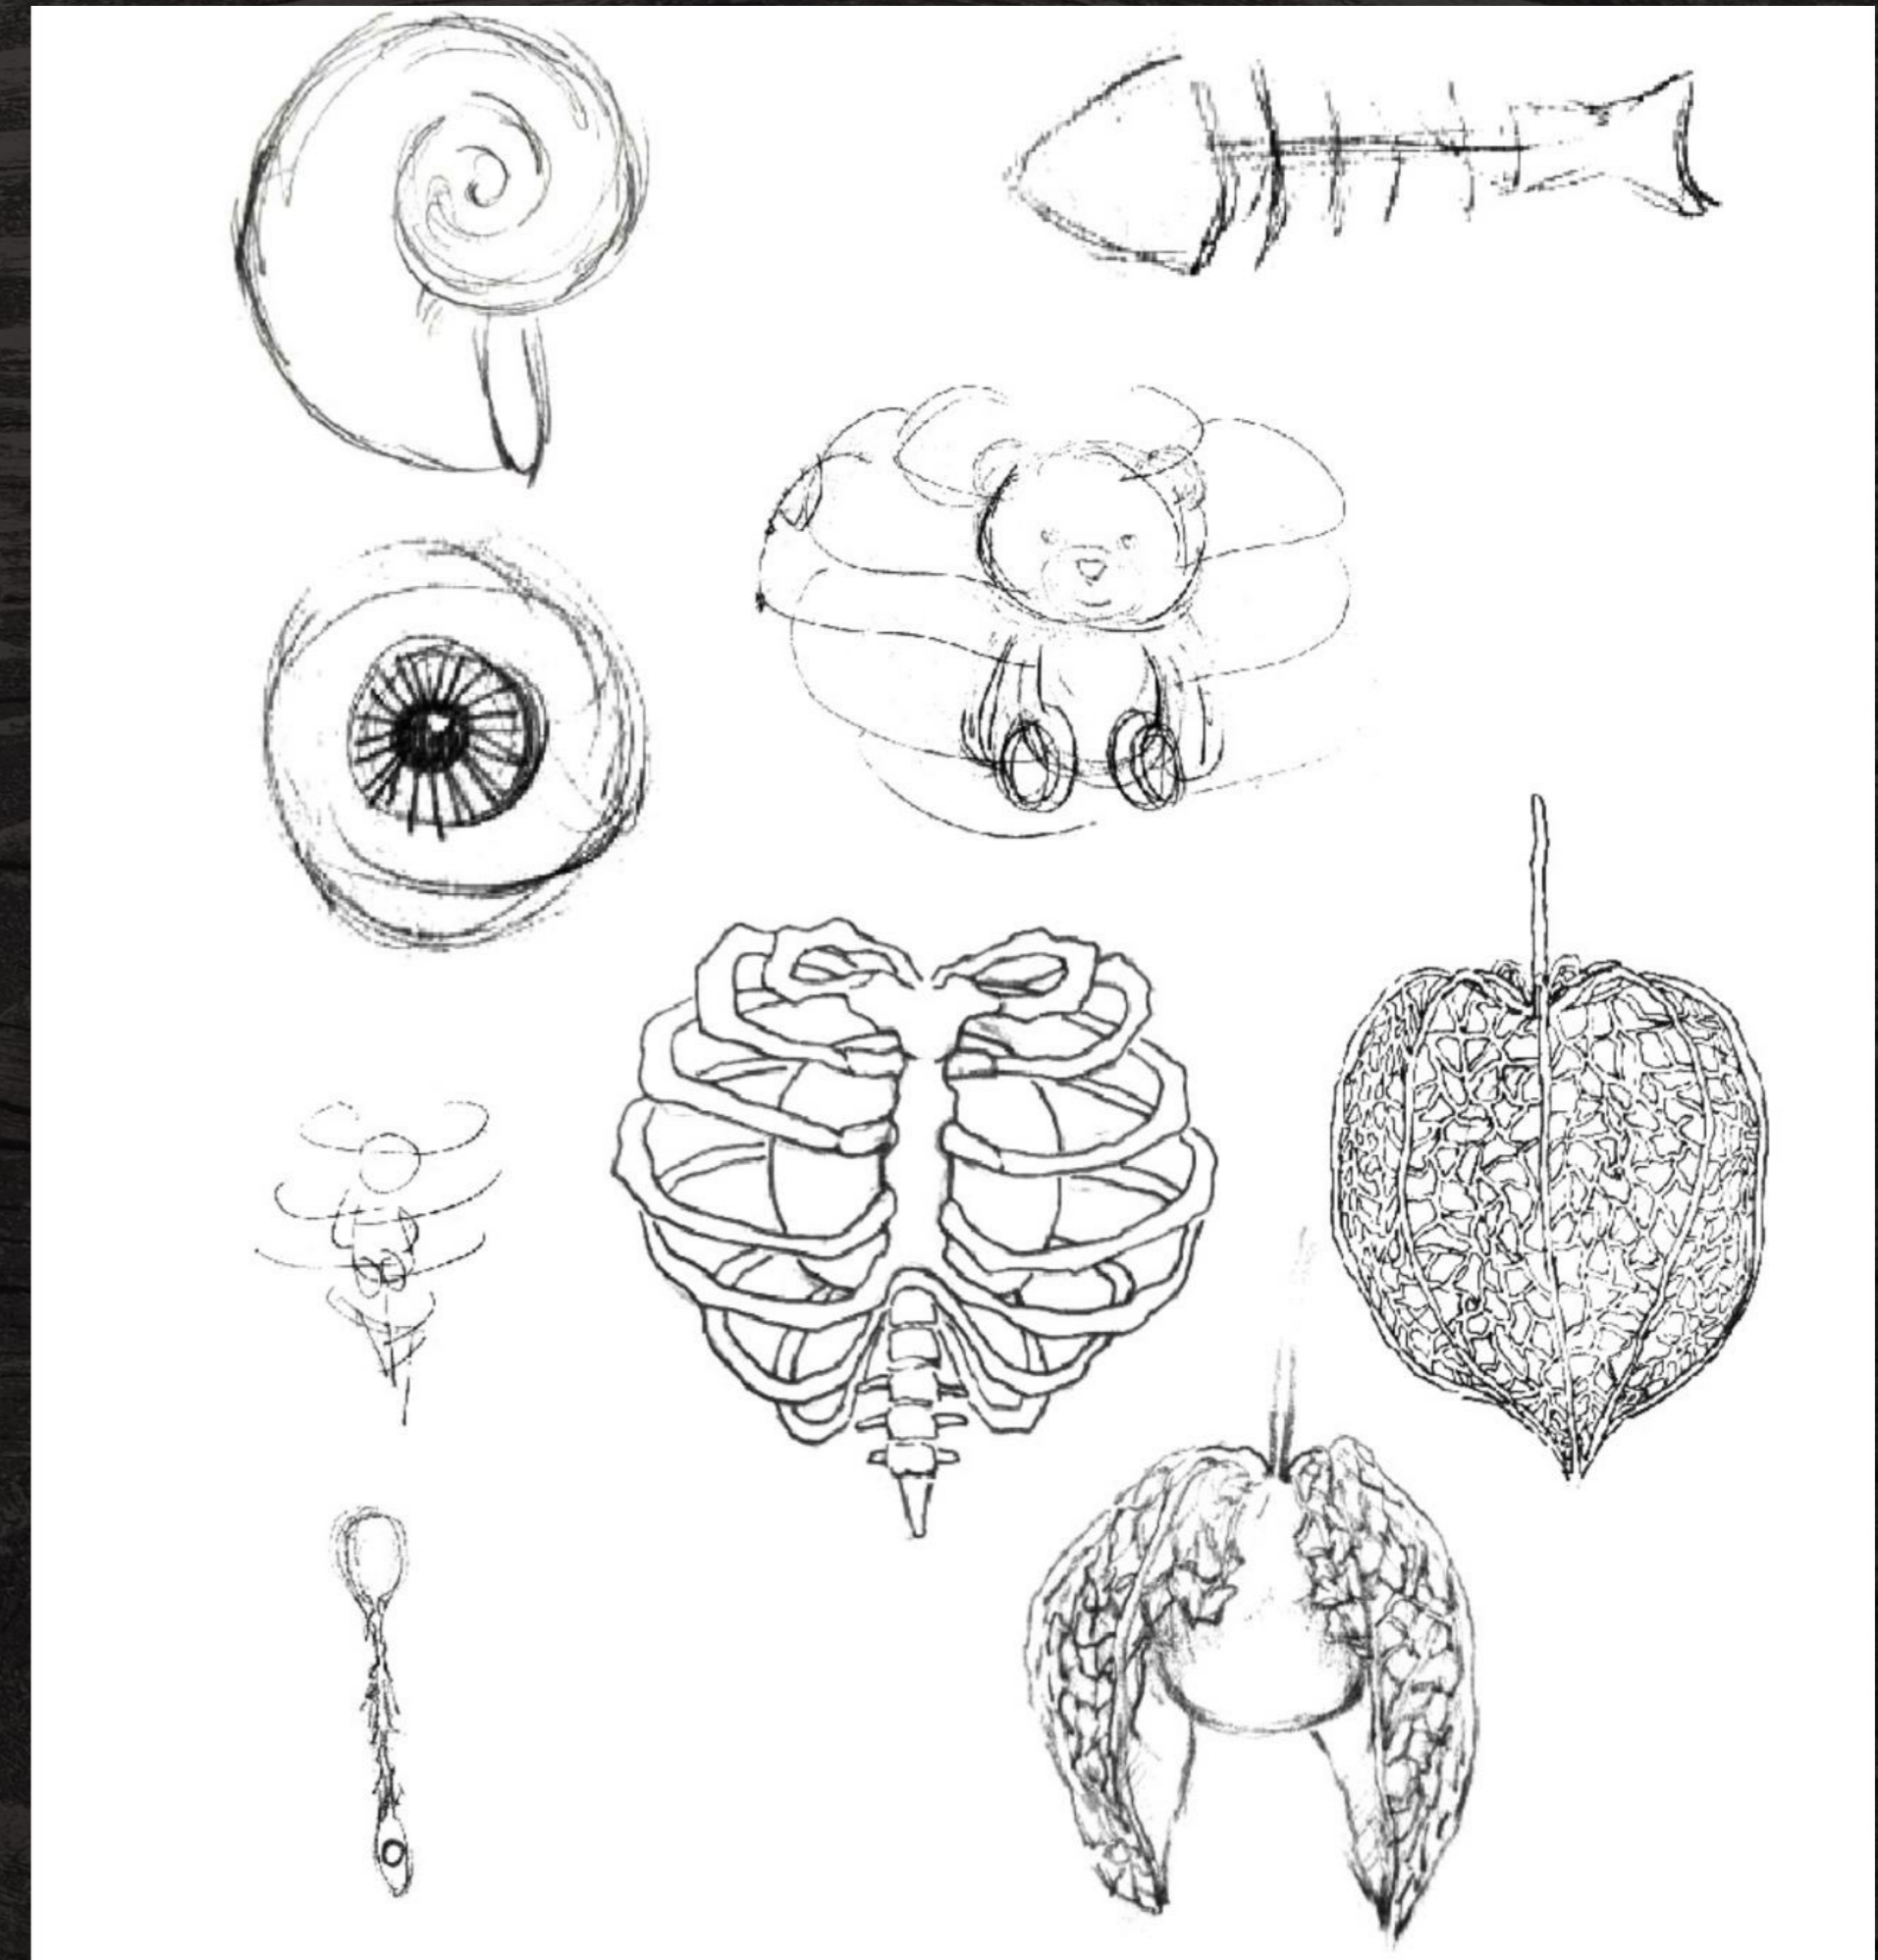

PROTECTION

I find skeleton is an intriguing object because of its visual complexity and symbolic depth. It's not just about the bones; it's about what they represent —strength, protection, and the underlying structure of life itself.

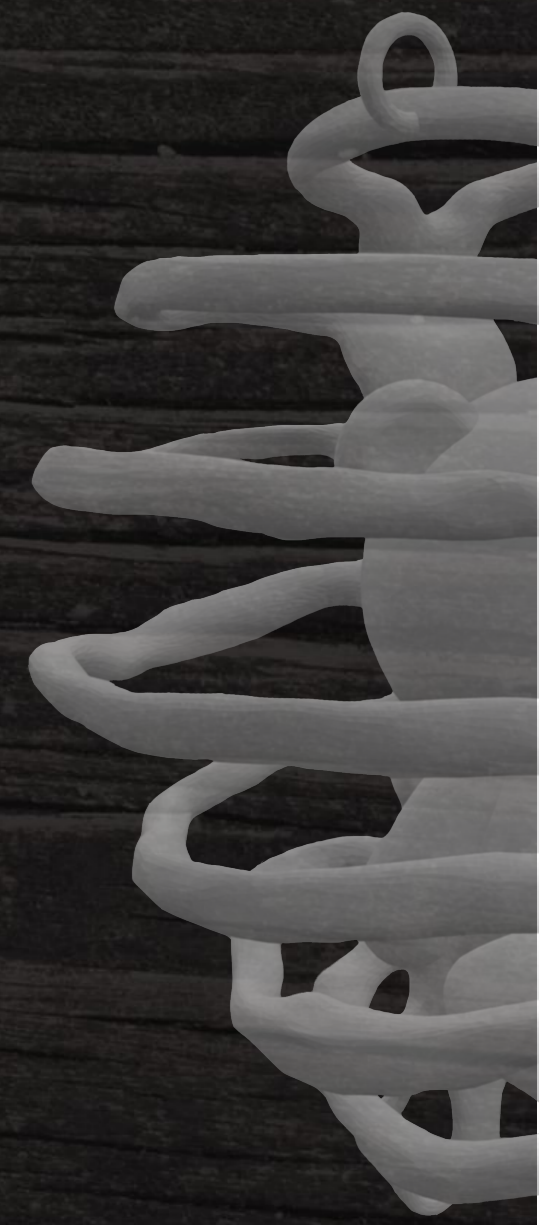

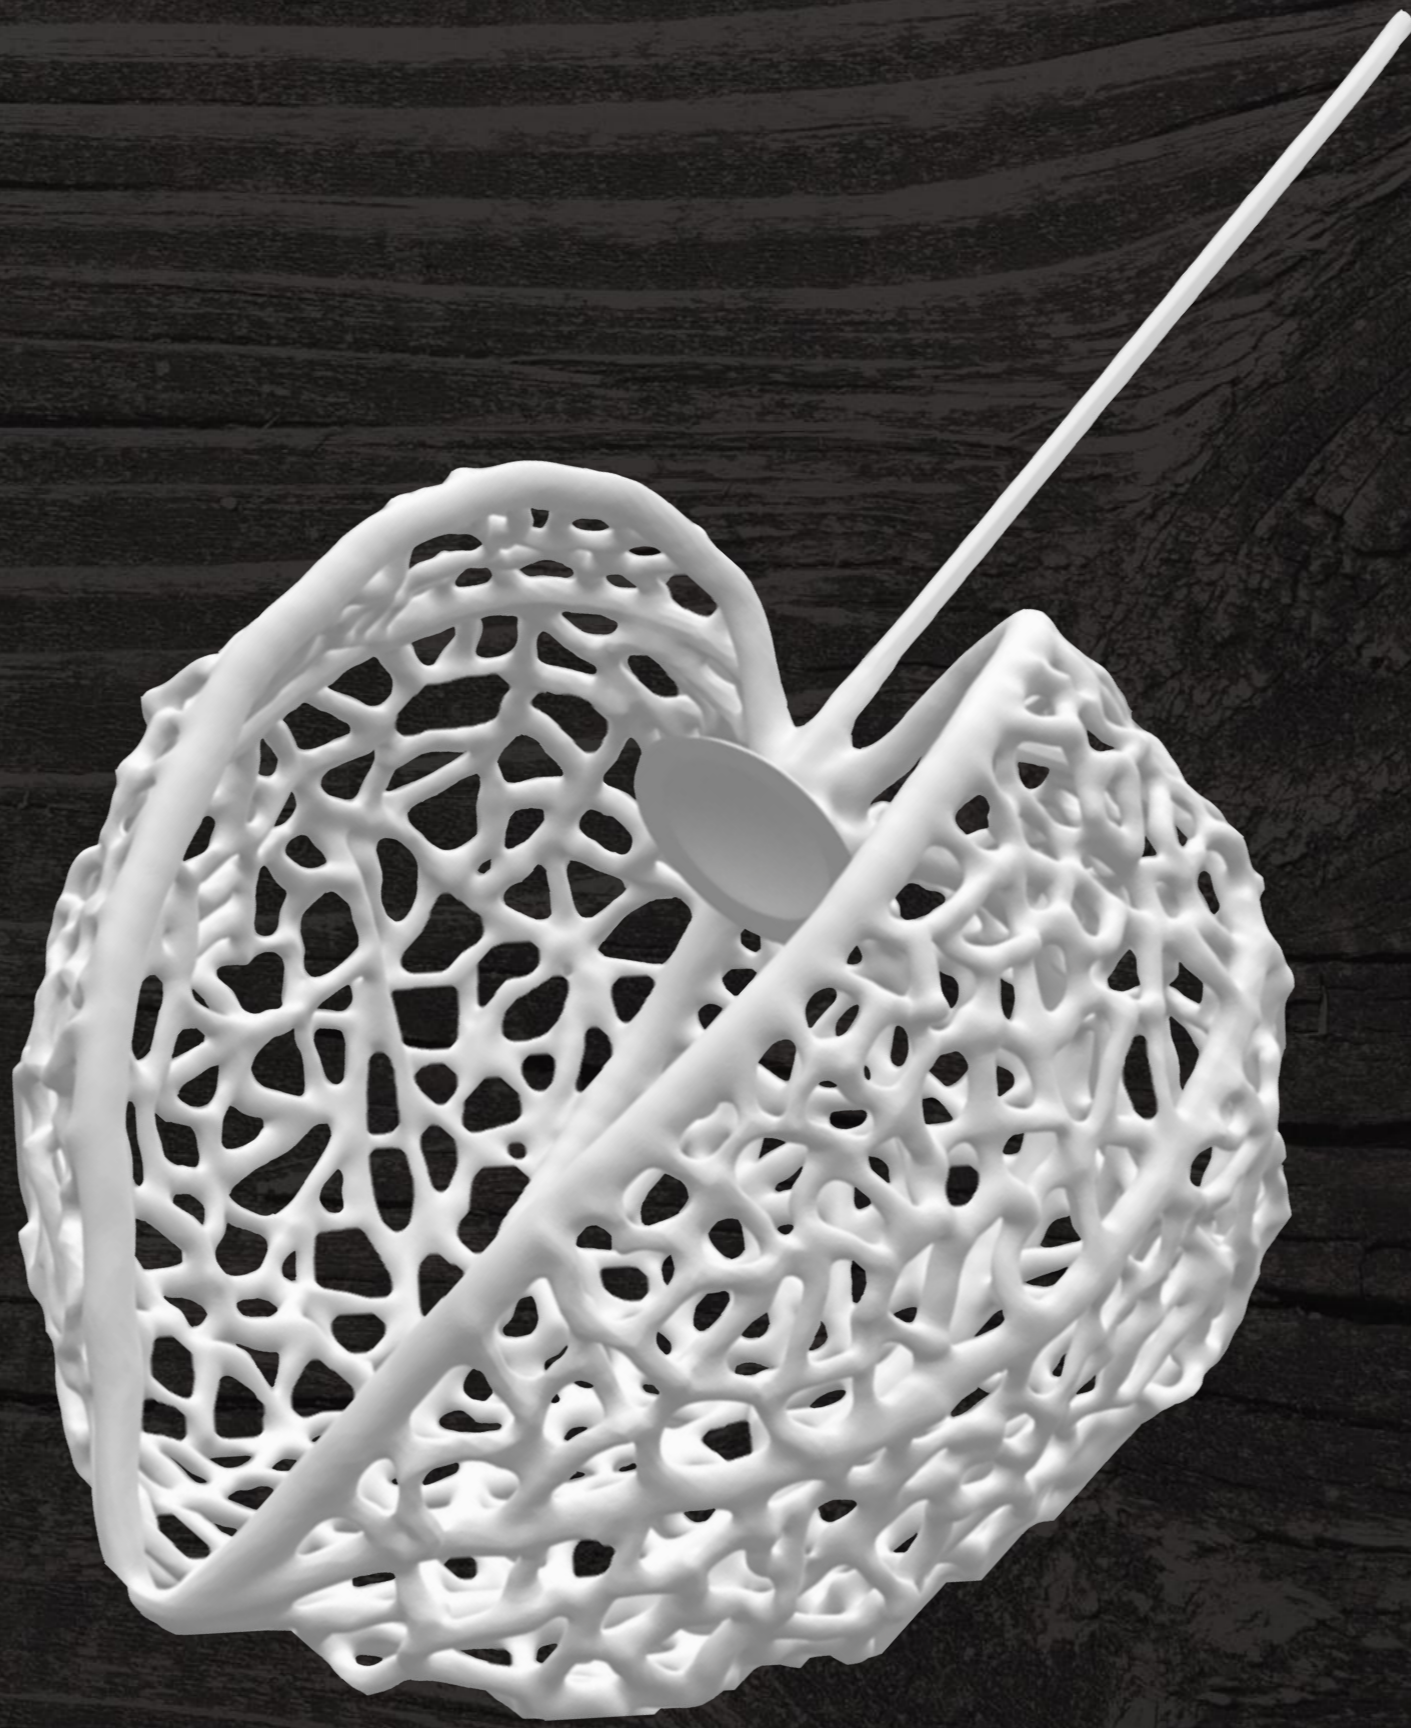

I chose the theme "protection" because I want to create designs that are both visually compelling and conceptually rich. It allows me for a deeper exploration of the concepts.

I was drawn to the idea of creating jewelry designs based on the skeleton motif because of its fascinate structure and visual complexity.

In developing my designs, I drew inspiration not only from animal skeletons but also from plant skeletons. By incorporating these diverse sources, I got to create pieces not only captivates visually but also carries profound symbolic meaning.

I initially named my jewelry brand "Argel" by blending "Argent" and "Skeleton," but later changed it to "Skeleto" because it felt more distinctive and memorable.
